2027 AOCS SHORT COURSES

AOCS Short Courses provide a unique opportunity for professionals in the fats, oils, and related industries to gain in-depth knowledge, sharpen their skills, and stay ahead of industry trends.

Held each year just prior to the AOCS Annual Meeting & Expo, these one to two-day intensive courses offer a focused, hands-on learning environment designed to help you advance your expertise and elevate your career.

EDIBLE OILS REFINING: SHORT COURSE

AOCS Short Courses provide an intensive, focused learning experience designed to enhance the attendee's knowledge and skills in selected topic areas. Over the span of one- or two-day sessions, participants engage in a blend of theoretical and practical learning, facilitated by industry experts and experienced instructors.

This hands-on course breaks down the key processing steps—from raw oilseed to purified, high-quality oil—so participants can make smarter decisions in plant operations. Attendees learn how to eliminate contaminants, reduce waste, and improve output while keeping costs low.

2027 FABRIC & HOME CARE FORUM

Chicago, Illinois, USA | aocs.org/fhc | May 3-5, 2027

2027 AOCS FABRIC & HOME CARE FORUM

The AOCS Fabric & Home Care Forum brings together the executives, scientists, and policy leaders working to solve fabric and home care's central challenge: building products that meet consumer expectations, hold up to sustainability science, and satisfy regulatory requirements — all at the same time.

Over three days, the Forum brings these perspectives into one room to set direction, build solutions, and decide what's executable.

ATTENDEE PROFILE

Join senior scientists, strategic leaders, and industry executives for a program built around the decisions shaping fabric and home care today — and over the next three to five years.
